I would like to make plane reservations if possible. It seems very probable that the original schedule will be valid. Because the plane schedule might have to include a day or 2 in order to get the flights, I will ask for hotel reservations after I actually have an itinerary. Therefore, let me know if I can make the plane reservations in the next few days (hopefully tomorrow or so).

Hello Dave-san,

I understand.
 And please contact me when you ready to ship it.
 We visited the customer for the meeting of final confirmation about installation yesterday and we explained that installation schedule is no change from last time (1/12-29).

Best regards
 Masato

We will most likely get then next week and we might have them ready to ship around Dec 28th. It is a work week but many people take time off. So it's best to assume that we will air ship the first week of January, say January 4th. We will of course try to make this happen sooner.
